

FFoQSI is the Austrian Competence Centre for research and innovation in the agri-food sector and bundles a wide international partner consortium. For our research in cooperation with Unit of Food Microbiology, Vetmeduni Vienna, Vienna we are searching a

Biologist, BTA, MTA (f/m)

www.ffaqs.at

Your responsibilities

- > Conduction research and development in an industry project for the development of novel biosensors for food pathogen testing
- > Working with food pathogens such as Listeria monocytogenes and Salmonella enterica
- > Microbiological and molecular biological diagnostics (qPCR; ELISA)
- > Optimization of a novel biosensor diagnostic system including LoD and LoQ testing

Your most important abilities and qualifications are

- > Education as a medical assistant or other relevant university degree
- > Experience in food material science, chemical and physical food analysis
- > Interest in working in a team and interact with company partners

We are offering

- > close collaboration with partner companies
- > exchange between the project groups
- > numerous education and training opportunities
- > full time (40 hours/week) for 18 months
- > gross monthly salary 2147,31 EUR (14 x p. year)

planned start of work: 01.10.2021

We especially encourage women to apply for this position. Please send the usual application documents latest until 13.09.2021 to Dr. Patrick Mester, jobs@ffaqs.at .

FFoQSI GmbH, Technopark 1C, A-3430 Tulln

Geschäftsführung Dr. Jürgen Marchart

www.ffaqs.at | office@ffaqs.at | +43 2272 22700

FN466700z | LG St. Pölten | UID: ATU72007605 | AT64 1200 0100 1896 8486 | BIC: BKAUATWW